

Dear parents,

For the fifth year, Actions Sans Frontières with the support of the European School Administration, organize the Solidarity Study Olympics, alongside other schools in different European countries. This year we added a new activity.

To participate in this project the students commit themselves to study during their free periods in order to help girls, victims of war in the Congo, to get psychological and psychiatric support.

OPTION 1: to study

-From the 25th of February until the 25th of March the students who want to participate register with the educational advisors (room B001). Each participant receives a solidarity passport in which his/her hours are registered.

- The students spend their free periods studying, doing their homework or reading their class books, in the designated areas. Participation is voluntary and free of charge.

-For each hour of study, 1 euro will be donated for psychological and psychiatric support to girls, victims of war in the Congo.

OPTION 2: to be creative

-Students look for information about war in the Congo and its victims.

-During their free time (at school or at home), they do something creative on that topic: a story or a poem, a drawing, a painting, a poster, a song, a dance, a flash-mob... They can also work in groups. The school may organize an exhibition of all works.

-From the 25th of February until the 25th of March, the works will be handed to the educational advisors, telling them how many hours were spent in the process. Participation is free of charge, but for every hour spent on the project 1 euro will be donated for the psychological and psychiatric support of girls, victims of war in the Congo.

As parents, you can also contribute to this project. In order to promote the solidarity study of your children you can:
